

Engaging Every Individual in Safety

What can you do to avoid complacency?

Date & Time:

Thursday October 12, 2017

7:30 - 9:30 a.m.

Networking

9:30 - 9:45 a.m.

Sponsor:

Thriveon

www.thriveon.net

Location:

Hennepin Technical College

Brooklyn Park Compus

9000 Brooklyn Blvd.

Brooklyn Park, MN 55445

(map at www.mfrall.com)

Reservations:

On-line at www.mfrall.com by

Monday, October 10th

Fee:

Members: Complimentary

Non-Members: $55

*Members may bring up to five individuals at no cost

Beverages & rolls provided

"I really like the personal experience and lessons learned that were shared by the presenters."

Aaron Lehto,
Nexen Group Inc

When safety incidents rarely happen to you, it inherently breeds complacency that it will not happen. Therefore, it is paramount to constantly keep safety in the top of your mind. How? Sharing a safety vision, developing accountability, providing training, incorporating proactive metrics, as well as celebrating success will help. But what would you do to customize these for your company? Learn from several presenters with different experiences and perspectives what has worked and what hasn't so you can help ensure the safety of your peers.

Presented by:

Lube-Tech

Katherine Syverson, Enterprise EHS Manager

Medtronic

Mark Horton, Director EHS&S MNCA

ProtoLabs

Greg Wesling, Plant Manager

Moderated by:

Kirby Sneen, Vice President
Manufacturers Alliance