

Create Your Own Lean Training

How to develop & deliver your own CI training

Offering your own lean training can be very convenient and effective. It allows you to customize content and delivery. Enabling you to develop even more process thinkers and problem solvers. But where do you start? How do you create the material and make sure it is delivered in a way that is applicable?

Join us to leverage the experience of your peers so you avoid becoming a “tool” teacher and help people turn into critical thinkers and real lean champions.
