

Lean Manufacturing Transformations Online

Would you like to experience the benefits of Lean manufacturing?

Offered as part of the Online Lean Practitioner Certification

Your instructor:

Charlie Garrett is an operations leader with over 25 years of broad-based manufacturing and consulting experience. He has expertise in all areas of manufacturing including: supply chain process improvement, value stream management, process design, program management, lean manufacturing, strategic planning, total productive maintenance, change management and training development and delivery in the Manufacturing, Window & Door, Medical Device, Chemical, Health Care, Automotive and Food & Beverage industries. Charlie has a degree in Operations Management from the University of St Thomas.

"The simulation was a great exercise – emphasized the implementation of Lean concepts and showed results of that implementation."

Renee Thurmer
Project Manager
Cell Culture Company

For many, the first step in creating a culture of continuous improvement and developing an army of problem solvers is to help all employees identify opportunities for improvement. Participants gain knowledge and the tools required in order to help a critical mass of employees learn how to define value and identify and eliminate waste. After completing the workshop, participants will have experienced the difference between traditional and Lean manufacturing and its components.

Tools learned include:

- ◆ Kanban
- ◆ Kaizen Events
- ◆ Cellular Manufacturing
- ◆ Takt Time
- ◆ Teamwork
- ◆ Work Standardization
- ◆ Visual Controls
